

The Somerset

A timeless design of five bar gate

Size shown: 9ft

The Somerset, named after the county where Charltons Gates are based in England is an all-time favourite. This classic design benefits from a tapered top bar with superior hanging stile and joined using traditional hardwood stop dowelled mortice and tenon joints providing maximum strength. Made from specially selected timber with fewer smaller knots, it results in a more stable gate, ensuring it is truly built to last. The Somerset has a planed finish along with detailed chamfering to the stiles, top bar and rails ensuring a smooth, attractive finish.

Available in the following sizes:

3ft (0.915m)

6ft (1.83m)

7ft (2.13m)

9ft (2.74m)

12ft (3.66m)

Norwegian Spruce

The specie of wood used in the timber gates sold by Westbury Gates is Norwegian Spruce otherwise known as White Spruce. It is a slow growth plantation timber sourced from Finland. We suggest you Google the timber specie because it is widely used as a building and timber gate material in Europe and has a reputation for being light, very strong and resistant to warping or distorting.

From the early days of aviation until well into the 1940's Norwegian Spruce was widely used for making airframes for aeroplanes because of its considerable strength while also being relatively light.

When used for making timber gates, Norwegian Spruce has proved itself as a durable timber which is much less heavy than timber gates made from Australian Hardwood. That is important when it comes to hanging a timber gate. It means that when hung properly our timber gates will stay in position and avoid sagging. It also means that longer timber gates can be hung allowing for much wider driveway entrances.
